

SMOOTH FUNK FLAVOURS TO TRANSFORM TULIP FARM

Tunes in the Tulips returns to Table Cape Tulip Farm in 2019 on Sunday 6th October with some super smooth funk flavours with Jay Jarome and Friends.

Jay Jarome is a Hobart based singer-songwriter whose sound is brimming with a feel-good fusion of old-time soul, R&B, funk and rock. Playing the stages of Falls Festival and Panama Festival, Jay was born and raised on Bribie Island in Southeast Queensland and moved to Hobart on a music scholarship. Known for his angelic vocal abilities, for Tunes in the Tulips Jay will partner with an all-star cast starring Sasha Gavlek on bass, Maggie Abraham on the congas, Ari Remund on keys & Thomas Hann on drums. Supporting Jay is the luscious harmonies & R&B groove of young Tasmanian five piece act Kudu Joy.

Glide into your Sunday and celebrate Spring with your whole family at Tunes in the Tulips. Wander through the tulip farm which will be in full bloom, pull up a hay bale, bring a picnic rug, pull on your dancing shoes and get some soul food. Alongside the music there is also delicious local produce on offer with NW Coast artisanal producer Red Cow Dairies and a well-stocked bar to purchase local Tassie ciders, bubbles and beer. The music is held indoors, so Tunes in the Tulips will be on rain, hail or shine.

Tunes in the Tulips is presented by the inspiring young women of Big hART's Project O, who are producing all aspects of the event, from front-of-house to sound and film production, stage management, ushering, catering, photography and marketing. In Project O, young rural women develop new skills and become change-makers in their community, building confidence, resilience and agency as well as new digital skills.

Project O is produced by leading campaigning arts organisation Big hART. Working in over 50 communities across Australia for 27 years, Big hART has won over 45 awards.

Project O is supported by the Tasmanian State Government, Telstra, the Tasmanian Community Fund, Wynyard High and Smithton High with Tunes in the Tulips supported by VDO Bulb and Red Cow Dairies.

Tunes in the Tulips* is on Sunday 6th October 2-5pm at Table Cape Tulip Farm, 363 Table Cape Rd, Wynyard. Discounted tickets available online from $20 <https://www.tablecapetulipfarm.com.au/tulip-farm-events>
